The world of innovation and emerging technologies are key to understanding how we plan the future.”
ECM Strategy Manager, Anglian Water Group

The only event to help you:
- Push past the boundaries of traditional enterprise architecture
- Leverage disruptive technologies for business growth
- Become a trusted innovation leader
- Take the right approach to business ecosystems
- Kick start your modern EA program
Digital business is being driven by a powerful wave of disruptive technologies. Collectively, these technologies surpass the impact of the last major disruption: the internet. Have you considered what this means for you and your organization?

Opportunity — for growth, performance and competitive advantage — is unlimited, but only if leaders like you can master the complexities of the digital business platform. This new organizing construct will forever change the way architects manage the digital business.

Gartner Enterprise Architecture & Technology Innovation Summit 2017 will help you embrace the role of technology innovator and build a digital business platform. With that goal in mind, this is the one event you cannot afford to miss this year.
